OPPOSITION TO IRISH TREATY BY DE VALERA

Great Popular Demonstration Greets Dublin Speech Against Pact

REAFFIRMS STAND

Resolution is Adopted Declaring That Ireland Is No Part of British Empire.

Dublin, Feb. 13.—Eamonn de Valera opened his campaign against the Provisonal Government yesterday with a great demonstration held in O'Connell street. Three large platforms had been placed for the speakers, and each was surrounded by a

All tarffic in O'Connell street was suspended for an hour by order of the chief of police, and members of the Republican and Metropolitan police regulated the gathering. About 1,000 Republican soldiers paraded prior to the meeting.

Mr. de Valera was given a great reception when he arose to speak from the principal platform at the Parnell Statue. Count Plunkett, who presided, introduced him as "President of the Republic." Six resolutions, outlining the attitude of the Republicans, were proposed during the meeting. These affirmed that the Irish Nation was one and indivisible; that all state authority in Ireland is derived solely from the Irish people; that the British crown is an alien crown, and that Ireland is no part of the British Empire.

The resolutions further stated that the London agreement failed to represent the true desire of the Irish people; that the treaty was obtained under duress, and that the Dail Eireen is not competent to give it legal sanction, and therefore it is null and void. They added that it would be unconstitutional to force upon Ireland an election which would involve recognition of partition before the Dail Eireen has expressed its sanction.

In his speech Mr. de Valera said the articles of the agreement bound the Irish people to exchange their republic for a monarchy He asked whether the people wanted as their monarch "King George of England," to which there were replies of "No, no." The King would be embodied in the Irish Constitution, according to the agreement, and really be the authority of Premier Lloyd George and his Cabinet. The British monarch's force could hold the principal forts and have air facilities, and when Great Britain was at war, which was practically all the time, the British government could take over the harbors, and Ireland would be made a belligerent, liable to attack by the enemies of England.

Continuing, he stated that Ireland was to be saddled with tribute to the British war pensions, and a share, as yet undetermined, in Great Britain's national debt. Ireland was to be broken up into two warring states in order that England, which was supposed to be evacuating the country, might have the six northern countries to use.

The alternative policy, he declared, was that of the last four years, which the present opponents of the Republicans once shared with them. His own policy was to allow the parts of Ulster which asked for it to have authority or a subordinate parliament. That would not deny the unity of the Irish state. The speaker appealed to the Irish people again to defeat at the elections any attempt to misrepresent the people's views.

The resolutions were adopted at all the platforms amid great cheering. There was no indication of any opposition to them.

BISHOP SPEAKS AT HOLY NAME

Rally Held Last Night at St. Mary's Church Largely Attended

Election of Officers and Smoker Follow at Lyceum Hall—P. A. Kersey Heads Organization

Members of the Holy Name Society last night were addresed by Rt. Rev. D. J. O'Connell, bishop of the diocese of Richmond, at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Afterward there was benediction. The members following the address held their annual meeting in the Lyceum Hall which was folowed by a smoker.

These officers were elected for the year: Park A. Kersey, president; William A. DeVaughan, vice president; James T. Minoughan, secretary Sylvester A. Breen, treasurer; Dennis Toomey, marshall.

During the evening addresses were made by Rev. L. F. Kelly, spiritual director, Rev. Louis Smet, pastor of St. Mary's Church. Rev. Michael Molly, P. A. Kersey and a number of others. The rally was attended by a large gathering of members of the organization.

Pope Pius XI Is Crowned With Impressive Ceremonies at Rome

Prelates, Ambassadors, and an Immense Throng View the Coronation

CRY "LONG LIVE POPE"

New Pontiff Again Blesses Crowd From Balcony of St. Peter's Despite Weather.

Rome, Feb. 12—Pius XI was crowned Pope in the Basilica of St. Peter's yesterday, amid scenes of pomp and ceremony, and in the presence of princess and dignitaries of the church, diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, members of the Roman aristocracy and a vast assemblage of people which filled the great structure to the very doors.

The coronation was carried out with impressive ceremonies, and the newly elected Pontiff now occupies the throne of the first pope crowned, Leo III, who reigned from 795 to 816. Since the erection of the Basilica, the coronation of all popes elected has taken place there with the exception of two, Leo XIII,, and Benedict XV, who, owing to the strained relations existing between the Quirinal and the Vatican in 1878 and the World War in 1914, preferred to be crowned in the Sistine Chapel.

The new pope again blessed the crowds from the outer balcony of St. Peter's, nearly 200,000 people cheering "Long Live the Pope," and waving handkerchiefs and admission tickets to the Vatican, which had failed to gain them admission to the great church. It had been officially announced that owing to the cold weather the Pope would not bless the crowds from the balcony, but such was the insistence and warmth of the cheers that the Pontiff finally decided he must answer the call.

Sixty thousand people gathered within the edifice, rising spontaneously, cheered the Holy Father as Cardinal Lega placed upon the Pope's head the tiara, emblem of supreme sovereignty.

Good will, sincerity and hope were the dominant emotions prevailing in Rome as the new spiritual leader was receiving the triple crown with the impressive and magnificent ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church Silver bugles of the sixteenth century announced the coronation, and the red robes of the aged cardinals, mingling with the blue uniforms of the Swiss guards recalled the middle ages, but the crush of spectators at the heavy bronze gates of the formerly forbidding Vatican revealed that something was changed in Rome.

The first message sent out to the world by Pope Pius expressed the wish for universal peace, and declared that while the Holy See should not abandon any of the church' temporal prerogatives, a satisfactory arrangement whereby the Vatican could rule spiritually only, would be weclomed.

The cortege from the Vatican to the Basilica was led by Mgr. Carol Respighi, master of ceremonies, followed by the heads of the various Roman colleges and escorted by two Swiss guards. The confessor of the pontifical family came next, then the servants, the "busselanti," in their red uniforms. A chaplain ordinary wearing a purple cape escorted by Swiss Guards bore the tiara on a velvet cushion. The jeweler to the Vatican walked along behind the tiarra.

Then in order came ordinary chaplains, carrying the precious mitre; two apostolic couriers in violet- colored uniforms; the secret camerieri, led by Mgr. Nasalli-Rocca: the honor chaplains and participants wearing purple capes; the choir of the pontifical chapel, and the entire Pontifical household in multi-colored uniforms, including the "penitentiari" of St. Peter's, wearing white chasuables.

The ushers of the "red mass," custodians of the Papal cross during the ceremony, were next in line, with bishops not attending the throne, Archbishops and prelates from the Orient, bishops and Archbishops attending the throne, patriarch, Cardi-

IN CONGRESS YESTERDAY

Met at noon and adjourned at 5:35 p. m.

After prolonged wrangling over Shipping Board items in the independent offices appropriations bill, the Senate passed the measure and sent it to conference.

When Shipping Board items were under consideration Senator Lodge obtained adoption of an amendment that none of the appropriation should be spent on reconditioning ships, unless otherwise ordered by the President, until a reasonable opportunity is given the nearest available navy yard to submit an estimate on the work.

Consideration of the Lodge amendment led to a spirited debate in which its author excoriated the Shipping Board for its refusal to consider navy yards in connection with ship repairs. The amendment is designed to let the Boston navy yard bid on reconditioning the Leviathan.

Senators Caraway and Harrison, Democrats, again attacked the administration or the civil service laws, Senator Harrison especially criticizing the manner in which the postmasters at Marion, Ohio, the President's home town, was appointed.

Foreign relations committee began consideration of the treaties negotiated by the arms conference, devoting the day to the four-power Pacific pact but adjourned until Tuesday without action.

House

Met at noon and adjourned at 3.40 p. m.

By a vote of 276 to 8, accepted Senate amendments to the farmers' cooperative marketing bill and sent it to the White House for President Harding's approval.

The measure, which has been before several Congresses would permit farmers to organize marketing associations on a co-operative basis.

Representative Focht, Pennsylvania, chairman of the District committee, introduced a bill previously offered in the Senate by Senator Capper, Kansas, providing a new salary schedule for teachers, officers and employes of the Washington public school system.

P. C. Atkeson, Washington representative of the National Grange and H. C. McKenzie, tax representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, expressed opposition to the bonus tax schedules as drawn by the Republican subcommittee of the ways and means committee.

Mr. Atkeson, in a letter to Chairman Fordney, declared the bonus program violates every principle of taxation indorsed by the recent agricultural conference, while Mr. McKenzie urged re-enactment of the excess profits tax.

Party Leaders Disagree On Sources of Revenue for Bonus

Eve of Conference Today Finds All Plans In Confusion

OPPOSE HOUSE PLAN

Stock Transfer Tax Probably Will be Dropped—Senator Smoot Offers Solution

Washington, Feb. 13.—Inability to reach an agreement after two conferences will again bring together today majority members of the Senate Committee on Finance, and the House Committee on Ways and Means to devise a taxation plan for payment of the soldier bonus.

Last night there was utter confusion in the plans for financing the bonus for ex-service men. The eight way program of the House committee does not appeal to the subcommittee of the Senate Finance committee of the Senate Finance Committee, headed by Chairman Mc Cumber and Senator Smoot.

It now seems reasonably certain there will be no radically increased taxes on transfers of capital stock and bonds. The House committee proposal was a tax of one tenth of 1 per cent on all stock transfers, whether original or subsequent in change of ownership The present tax is only one twentieth of 1 per cent, in case of original transfers, and one-fiftieth of 1 per cent, on each subsequent transfer.

However, there were authoritative indications that the whole scheme for increased taxes on stock transfers would go overboard because of Senate opposition to the House suggestion. If there is any change what soever in these documentary taxes it will not exceed a doubling of the present rate, and prospects are there will be no change whatsoever because of the protest of business men throughout the United States.

Senator Reed Smoot, Utah, one of the two representatives of the Finance Committee at the conference of Senate and House members yesterday, and who later attended the conference with President Harding Saturday night, is opposed generally to the levying of additional taxes on business.

"Business has gone about as far as it can go in paying taxes," said Senator Smoot. "Whether it be an increased tax on capital stock transfers or something else, business feels that it cannot stand it and is protesting to the Finance and Ways and Means Committee.

"There can be no revival of business so long as we pile up additional taxes on it. If business does not revive there will continue lack of employment. One cannot expect unemployment to end if business is harassed by additional taxes at this particular time.

"My idea is, and I am hopeful that it will be accepted, that we should issue short time bonds for the soldier bonus, such bonds for the soldier bonus, such bonds carrying the privilege of recall by the Government. I am hopeful that this may be the solution of the present disagreement between the Senate and House As to the capital stock transfer tax. I am sure that if it is approved eventually, which I doubt, it will not be on the House terms and will not represent such an increase over present rates as was at first suggested. I am aware of the complaints which have come from New York and elsewhere that the proposed levies would practically end all stock transfers. because sometimes the tax would exceed the value of stocks that are selling at practically nothing, such as one or two cents per share."

Practically every taxation scheme today before Congress to pay the soldier bonus has brought its avalanche of protests upon the members of the Senate and House committees in charge of the legislation. The way out may be the Smoot plan, which calls for the issuance of bonds, and this seemed today a fairly good compromise prediction.

WITNESSES IN DIVORCE PROBE TO BE HEARD

Committee Fixes Upon February 23 as Date For Hearing

REPORT NOT COMPLETE

Sub Committee Has Investigated 812 Cases—Final Report Next Saturday Afternoon.

The examination of witnesses who know anything concerning the alleged divorce evil in this city will begin at 10 o'clock the morning of February 23 in the corporatin courtroom. This was decided upon Saturday afternoon when a resolution to that effect, offered by Judge J. K. M. Norton, was adopted. The resolution provides that Frank Stuart, a local attorney and Harvey L. Cobb, reporter for a Washington newspaper and all other persons who may have any information that may be of assistance to the committee investigating the divorce conditions be requested to appear before this committee, and that Mrs. Mary L. Baggett, Mrs. Stella Bensel and Robert Luckett be requested to appear at the same time and that all members of the bar of the city of Alexandria are invited to attend.

The subcommittee named to investigate the records of the divorces granted that they had not completed their work and expected to submit a final report next Saturday afternoon This committee is composed of J. Randall Caton, chairman, C. Keith Carlin and Howard W. Smith. Up to date the committee has examined a total of 812 cases and there are 300 cases now pending covering a period of two years according to Mr. Caton. Judge Norton requested that Harvey L. Cobb, reporter for a Washington newspaper be not molested while in this city and upon motion of Judge Barley safe convoy was assured Cobb when he comes here.

Reports were submitted by Gardner L. Boothe on two specific cases that he could find from the newspaper accounts published and he reported the circumstances attending each case.

According to a report made by C. Keith Carlin he examined 127 cases in which 123 final decrees were granted, one case was placed on the stet docket and three were dropped

J. Randall Caton reported he examined 352 cases and Howard W. Smith reported he investigated 209 cases.

Mrs. Mary L. Bagett. Mrs. Stella Bensel and Robert Luckett appeared in a number of cases.

Judge Norton reported his visit last Thursday to Richmond in the interest of the bill presented by him to the legislature on behalf of the bar association which will make divorce more difficult to obtain in the state and on motion the bill as submitted by him was adopted.

The following resolutions also were adopted by the special committee, which was presided over by Howard W. Smith.

RESOLVED:

I. That the bill introduced in the Legislature on the 9th day of February, 1922, and which was referred to the Committee on Courts of Justice and which was drafted on the lines of the bill recommended by this special committee, appointed by the lawyers of the Alexandria City bar, elected in a meeting of the Alexandria Bar, to consider the divorce evil existing here and elsewhere in Virginia, will as near as can now be foreseen, correct the divorce evil in Virginia.

II. That we are much opposed to the repeal of section 5113 of the Code which prohibits a marriage with in six months of the granting of a divorce, as we regard this as most important.

III. That we prefer the name designated as guardian ad litem for the state's representative in divorce suits, as it is a designation well known to the Virginia bar as representing interests not otherwise represented.

IV. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Hon. John H. Price, Chairman of the Committee on Courts of Justice, with request that he present the same to his committee.

NEW ENGLAND MILL WORKERS FACE IDLENESS

Between 40,000 and 50,000 Cotton Mill Workers Are Affected

UNIONS RESIST CUT

Rhode Island Troops in Armories Await Orders—Department of Labor Sends Agents.

Boston, Feb. 13.—New England is on the eve of its greatest textile strike.

By tonight it is expected, between 40,0000 and 50,000 cotton mill operatives will be idle in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island in the bitter fight against the general 20 per cent wage reduction and abolition of the 48-hour week.

Last night there were no hopeful indications of compromise. Cotton manufacturers and officials of the textile workers' unions were agreed it would be a fight to the finish. In some of the mill cities where strike votes were polled the percentage in favor ran as high as 99 or more, which would indicate that the majority of the mills will be forced to close.

The manufacturers sum up their situation in the statement that "economic and industrial questions demand this step in the return to normal conditions. We must meet the competition of Southern mills."

And union officials reply: "Our wages have been cut 42 per cent in sixteen months. This is an attempt to draw Northern operatives down to the starvation wage level of the Southern cotton mill workers."

Resentment against the new wage scale has been stronger, perhaps than any ever made in this section. Following as it did a general slash of twenty-two and one-half per cent a little over a year ago. The Rhode Island cotton mill workers were the first to suffer and in that State 15,000 strikers already have tied up thirty plants and staged such serious millgate disturbances at other plants that the governor has warned that at the next outbreak he would call out the militia to maintain order.

Two troops of cavalry, fully armed and equipped are in Providence armories awaiting orders.

Representatives sent from Washington by the Department of Labor are in the field attempting with poor success to halt the strike. Officers of the United Textile Workers of America and the other textile organizations are on the way to the New England battle front.

Mass meetings were held yesterday in all the centers affected and union officials gathered for councils of war at which plans for the strike were completed.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Washington, Feb. 13.—It is not denied officially in Washington today that receipt of a memorandum from Premier Poincare, of France, asking a delay of three months in the Genoa economic conference is responsible for the holding up of the American reply to the invitation to participate in the conference. Inasmuch as the early date for the conference was to have been ostensibly, the chief reason for America's declination of the invitation, dispatch of the reply to the Italian government has been held up until there is action on the request of the French Premier.

The failure of the President to make public the answer on Genoa is generally construed here as a hopeful sign for American participation in the event that the Allied governments do as expected and accede to Premier Poincare's request. A conference on June 8 would have much more chance of American participation than on March 8, inasmuch as this government is not now ready for such a conference, has collected no data and memoranda in regard to it, and has no chance to organize a force of experts to attend.

The speech of Cordell Hull, Democratic National Chairman, on Friday night, at a meeting of West Virginia Democrats at Huntington, West Va., attacking the work of the arms conference, has been found peculiarly disconcerting to about twenty-five or thirty Democrats of the Senate who are expected to vote for most of the treaties resulting from the conference. While none of the Democratic Senators would care to make any open comment on the speech of Mr. Hull, it is realized by a vast majority of them that such attacks will prove a liability to the party in view of the general public satisfaction with the work of the conference.

It was learned on the highest authority today that despite statements to the contrary, former President Wilson has never, either by word or deed, done anything to influence his Democratic friends in the Senate to defeat the treaties submitted to that body by President Harding on Friday. The former President has held himself aloof from the contest, feeling that the country itself would judge of the results of the conference without his interference in any way in the fight.

Efforts on the part of Republican leaders in Congress to find a way to pay the soldiers' bonus are becoming more complexed every day. The latest move on the part of the farm bloc in Congress is directed in the way of paying the entire cost of the soldier bonus from an excess profits tax, retroactive to January 1, this year. The Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee, meeting with Republicans of the Ways and Means

CLUES FAIL IN DROWNING

Miss Alma H. Jones' Case Remains a Mystery to The Police

One week ago today the body of Miss Alma May Hullings Jones, daughter of Mrs. Lillian F. Jones, of 330 N. Payne Street, was found floating in the Potomac, and today the mystery concerning the circumstances involved is as yet unsolved.

The police of this city and Washington today are without any clues whatsoever and the Washington authorities have practically dropped the investigation unless new developments are forthcoming.

The money, jewelry and hand satchel of Miss Jones are unaccounted for. This link is the only one they have to follow. The river banks on this side and the District side have been searched hoping the articles would be found.

Bible Thought for Today

Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: For where your treasure is there will your heart be also.—Matthew 6: 19-21.

AT RICHMOND LEGISLATION

House Proceedings

Speaker Brewer called the House to order at 11:10 o'clock Saturday morning and prayer was offered by Rev. J. Freeland Peter, rector of St, James' Episcopal Church. Delegate E. Hugh Smith, of Northumberland County, suggested that as the Committee on Currency and Commerce had made a report setting forth its reasons for recommending nonpassage of the Brown-Page bill, that the committee make a similar detailed report giving reasons why the Gibson resolution calling for certain information from the pilots was not reported. Chairman Azlin, of the Currency and Commerce Committee, said the committee had no disposition to cover up or stifle anything, and if it was the wish of the House he would call the committee early in the week to take action.

The House concurred in the Senate amendments to the co-operative

JEWELS VALUED AT $3,000 STOLEN SATURDAY NIGHT

Burglars Ransack Residence of J. Lawrence Perry

OCCUPANTS ABSENT

Burglars Empty Contents of Every Bureau on Floors—Police Are Investigating.

Burglars Saturday night jimmied the kitchen door of the residence of J. Lawrence Perry, vice president of the Alexandria National Bank, Russell Road, Braddock Heights, and ransacked every drawer in the house and stole jewelry valued at $3,000. The occupants were away at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Perry came into the city at 7:30 o'clock and returned at 9:15 o'clock and found the window shades drawn in every room in the house.

Entering it was discovered that every bureau drawer had been ransacked and the contents emptied on the floor.

The burglars failed to disturb any silverware and neither did they take any money, there being $13 in one drawer and $4 in another drawer.

Chief of Police Goods was notified and an investigation made by the police. They were unable to find any finger prints or anything that would give them a clew. The police are of the opinion that the burglars were watching the movements of Mr. and Mrs. Perry and entered the place immediately after they left for the city. They evidentally worked quickly, for Mr. and Mrs. Perry were gone only an hour and forty-five minutes.

It is recalled that a short time before they left a man called at the door and asked for a cup of coffee, evidentally desiring to see if the occupants were at home.

Among the articles stolen are one ring set with square cut diamond and sapphires, one set missing, in carved platinum; one solitaire diamond ring, one marquise diamond ring and rubies, gold setting, one cluster ring, emerald and diamonds, one rinf, three rubies, gold setting, one bracelet, very old gold with pink cameos, one large gold chain with three pearls and initials "A. E. C." on back, one antique gold cross with pearls, one pendent, green gold, with small diamond, one lavalliere set with an amethysts and pearls, one short string of pearls and diamond clasp, tortoise shell spectacles.

The residence of Arthur Herbert, also a banker, connected with the banking house of Burke and Herbert, on Walnut Street, Rosemont, was robbed December 11, last, of three diamond rings valued at $3,000. Entrance to Mr. Herbert's home was made with a duplicate key during the absence of the occupants. It is believed that probably the same party who robbed Mr. Herbert also robbed Mr. Perry's home.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

The report of the hearing before the sub-committee of the House Committee on Appropriations makes mighty interesting reading to the public so far as salaries on the Shipping Board are concerned. The divisions and subdivisions of employment seem to go world-without-end. For instance, in one branch alone there is an executive department; an allocation and contract department; an allocation division; a contract division; a demurrage and off-hire section; a reviewing section; an operation sales section; an inventory section; and a filing section; all in Washington; with still other employees in New York. We haven't run across what Mr. Lasker gets, but there are three of his subordinates getting $35,000 a year, each. Then follow dozens and dozens of salaries running from $25,000, $11,000, $10,000, $9,000, $7,500, $6,500, $6,000, $5,000, $4,000, down to a pitiful little $3,000, and some even less. They claim to have made drastic reductions all along the line to reach these modest stipends, too!

Lasker asks a mere 50 millions for the year 1923, for operating his Board. We are frank to say we do not like his attitude. It is a little too cocky and pert, and smacks of the impudent! There is likewise a little too much of the element of self-puffery and autoglorification in his replies to the hard-working congressmen who are really trying to get to the bottom of the thing and see if Uncle Sam cannot be saved some money. Mr. Lasker, one of President Harding's appointees to head the Shipping Board, is an advertising agent by trade. The Board pays its advertising manager $9,000 a year. In the examination of this latter gentleman by the Committee of Congress, Mr. Lasker interpolates his own testimony to the effect that he has several men in his own business—which he says, modestly, he does not want to advertise, to whom he pays $15,000, $25,000, and $50,000 a year "One man with me," he says, "who does nothing but write and supervise advertising, makes up to $175,000 a year." Query: How much does Mr. Lasker get from his advertising business, and what does Uncle Sam pay him in addition thereto?

The Government ownership and operation of vast fleets of steamers engaged in commerce, we confess, frankly, is rather too large a problem for us to solve offhand. Especially, after examining nearly four hundred pages of testimony in the hearing before the sub-committee of the House Committee on Appropriations. We confess to much bewilderment. More than once, the question has arisen, why appoint an advertising agent to conduct a complex and intricate business with assets and appropriations and operations running into billions of dollars. It would seem that this job required the very highest technical skill and long years of intensified experience. We give it up! It would take us a year of close study, at least, to get into the gist of the thing.

We have always been inclined to believe in government ownership—as a theory. But meanwhile we have a problem of our own to solve right here in Alexandria. That of municipal ownership of a little gas plant!

Laughs Better Than Tears

I bless all the apostolic college of humorists. The man that makes me laugh is my benefactor. I do not thank anybody to make me cry. I can do that without any assistance. We all cry enough and have enough to cry about God bless all skillful punsters, all repartees ists, all propounders of ingenious conundrums, all those who instantly surprise us with unusual juxtaposition of words. Thomas Hood and Charles Dickens and Sydney Smith had a divine mission, and so have their successors in these times. They stir into the acid beverage of life the saccharine. They make the cup of earthly existence, which is sometimes stale, effervesce and bubble. They placate animosities. They foster longevity. They slay follies and absurdities which all the sermons of all the pulpits cannot reach.—T. DeWitt Talmage.

Pope Pius XI is Crowned With Impressive Ceremonies

tal Deasons, Cardinal-bishops, and princess of Orsini and Colonna, assistants to the throne following after.

Secret camerieri of the cape and sword, led by Marquis Sacchetti, and the Forager Major and Palatine Guards, commanded by Baron Tabanelli, escorted the Papap chair, which was borne by paraireneri, wearing red uniforms. Eight prelates carried the canopy over the Pontiff's head.

Seated on the Papal chair wearing a great white cape embroidered with gold and the precious mitre, the newly elected Pope blessed the worshipers who lined the corridors of the Vatican and the entrances of St. Peter's. Surrounding the chair with drawn swords were Swiss Guards commanded by Colonel Hirschbuhl. Officers of the Noble Guard and officials of the Pontifical court with two huge Swiss Guards closed the procession.

The new pope, a native of Desio, Italy, will be 65 years of age March 31.

Achille, Cardinal Ratti, the new pope, was the junior cardinal in the Sacred College. He was made a cardinal June 16, last, less than eight months prior to his selection as pontiff.

The new pope is said to have liberal tendencies. Physically he is a big man of unflagging energy.

For several years the newly chosen pontiff was papal nuncio to warstricken Italy. It was in recognition of this fine service in Poland that he was created a cardinal last year.

For several years Achille Ratti was in charge of the Ambrosian Library and Archives at Milan and became librarian at the Vatican about seven years ago.

When the new republic of Poland established diplomatic relations with the Vitican, Ratti was made an archbishop and assigned to Poland.

Ratti's efforts in behalf of the destitute children orphaned by the war, won for him the esteem of all Catholic Poland.

When Ratti began his duties as archbishop of Poland, and such representative of the holy see, the country was torn with the enstrangments of religion due to communistic propaganda from soviet Russia Ratti counteracted the spread of radicalism and earned the esteem of the late Pope Benedict XV and the gratitude of the Vatican authorities.

MILITARY IMPRESSMENT

We are informed, from the most respectable source that the late military requisition from the neighboring county of Fairfax, was enforced by a literal impressment of its inhabitants. The orders from the Governor of Virginia were to supply the places of those of the first classes of the former draught who were unavoidably by sickness and other causes, prevented from attending at the time and place appointed for the new draught out of the last classes in such manner, as to make up the number required. After this, the people of Fairfax at least, will be reconciled to the idea of military conscription.. It will give them some idea, too, of impressment; a subject, which they have said a great deal about, without knowing anything.

Rock Hill Defeated

The Alexandria team won its fifth straight game when they defeated the basketball team from Rock Hill College, at Ellicot City, Maryland. The local five played all around the visitors, making nine field goals to five for the College basketeers. The game was close at all times and very exciting. The home team was not expecting to play this afternoon as the game was scheduled at night.

Rock Hill was defeated by the score of 20 to 19 on Saturday afternoon. The visiting team was considered very good and only gave up after a gallant fight.

Corbett and Schwender were the best of the visiting cagemen while Pettit and Pohl did the best for the locals.

With an enrollment of eighty-two it had become necessary to secure several new teachers for the classes. NAVAL PACT TO SAVE HUGE SUM

$400,000,000 Savings, From Maintenance and Stopping Construction

Current Cost of Navy, However, Will Not be Reduced by Five Power Treaty.

Washington, Feb. 13.—By limiting the size of the American Navy, as agreed upon in the five power naval treaty, by stopping construction on thirteen capital ships and by scrapping as many more older vessels an annual saving of approximately $200,000,000 in fleet maintenance will be made and approximately $200,000 000,000 more than was allowed for the struction.

This is as close as naval authorities have been able to figure the economics in the naval establishment which are to grow out of the naval holiday program. There will be little if any reduction in the current cost of the navy. As a matter of fact, the budget for next year as submitted to Congress calls for about $11, 000,00 more than was allowed for the present fiscal year.

When asked what the taxpayer is to get out of what is now commonly known as the "treaty navy," officials of the Navy Department talk in terms of what would have been instead of what is If naval competition had gone on, they show, and if the 1916 program had been consumated, it would have cost at least $200,000,000 more to have completed ships in which $300,000,000 already has been invested and it would have cost $200,000,000 annually to maintain such a fleet, once it had been built and delivered.

The naval budget for next year calls for an outlay of $425,952,000, a budget prepared, moreover, on a basis of a limited fleet, but big as is the sum called for, it is small in relation to the total fiscal budget of the government, naval officials declare, when compared with the sums Great Britain and Japan have set aside for their naval establishments as related to the total British and Japanese budgets.

Senate Proceedings

Twenty-four bills were passed Saturday by the Senate in the longest session yet held. The upper branch met at 10 o'clock and continued through until 2 o'clock, when it adjourned to meet Monday at noon.

Twelve Senate and twelve House bills were definitely put behind them by the Senators. The majority of the measures were of purely local character, but disposal was made of one of the child welfare block, that dealing with the licensing, regulation and inspection of children's boarding-houses and nurseries.

The bills passing were Senate bills Nos. 80, 153, 127, 129, 171, 12, 5, 29, 70, 106, 115, and 197, and House bills Nos. 48, 15, 31, 32, 33, 34, 56, 68, 107, 145, 146 and 147.

Fifty-three bills on their second reading were ordered to their engrossment and third reading. Fourteen were advanced to their second reading, and four recommitted to committee.

The Senate was notified that the House had refused to recede from its amendments to Senate bill No. 11, making it a criminal offense to trespass on private property. Senators Russell, Downing and Henning were named on the conference committee. The Senate rejected the House amendments to Senate bill No. 41.

Committee, vigorously oppose the tax on stock and bond transfers, suggesting three cent postage as a substitute, but agreeing for the most part to other tax proposals of the Ways and Means Committee.

A veritable flood of protests has been received from automobile owners and associations, theatre owners, stock brokers, farmers, real estate boards and others against the various taxes proposed by the Ways and Means Committee.

The whole bonus situation appears to be in a bad snarl and some are predicting that it will be months before a bill can be agreed upon and passed and ready for President Harding's signature.

Now that he has transmitted to the Senate the seven treaties negotiated by the representatives of the various nations attending the Arms Conference, President Harding has begun an exhaustive study into the question of the American merchant marine. He is giving close attention to the report of the committee of experts working in conjunction with the officials of the U. S. Shipping Board providing for a plan of ship subsidy which was laid before him more than three weeks ago. Up to this time, however, on account of other matters demanding his attention, he has not been able to give any attention to this report.

It is expected that within the next week or ten days the President will address a joint session of Congress giving the members his views with regard to the upbuilding of the American merchant marine and the best methods for regaining a just portion of world carrying trade for America. The President, it is believed, will take the same occasion to tell the American people that the government of the United States should eliminate itself from the operation of merchant ships and turn the proposition over to private corporations.

MOTHER, QUICK! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP FOR CHILD'S BOWELS

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Why Many Batteries Die Young

Gould STORAGE BATTERY

WITH THE TRADE MARK Dreadnaught PLATES

An automobile battery is only as good as its plates and its plates are seldom better than their separators. When separators break-up, plates breakdown. Unless new separators are installed, the battery is soon ready for the junk pile.

The Gould Dreadnaught Armored Separator is the first long life wood separator ever placed in a battery. The characteristic porosity of wood is retained while extra protection from acid adds strength and long life to both separator and plate.

Only the Gould Dreadnaught Battery has this patented armored separator. Only the Gould has the famous long life Dreadnaught Plates. Only the Gould gives you longest life as demonstrated by owners' records everywhere.

VALENTINE DAY

Ah, Here Are Those Lovely New Spring Hats!

These are examples of some of milady's headgear that will be seen before trees are budded. From left to right are shown a French creation of straw and cloth, the crown of straw and the brim of cloth lacquered apples providing the trimmings. The middle one is a turban of imported glace hair cloth, trimmed with three "love birds" with blue tails and bodies, green wings, orange heads and black bills. On the right a mandarin hat of periwinkle georgette. The trimmings are of coral "matchstick" beads.

Winner May Fight Dempsey For Title

Right—Tom Gibbons

Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul, and Harry Greb, Pittsburgh boxer, regarded as two of the country's foremost light heavyweights, have been matched for a fifteen-round bout in Madison Square Garden, New York City, March 13.

The winner is scheduled to battle Jack Dempsey for his world's title. It is the most important match made since the Dempsey-Carpentier fight.

It is announced that the men will clash in the feature bout of a card which Promoter Tex Rickard is conducting for the New York Milk Fund.

Several times before it was reported that they were matched to battle, but a bout between them never materialized.

Gibbons was matched for a bout here against Georges Carpentier, world's light-heavyweight champion, but this contest was abandoned.

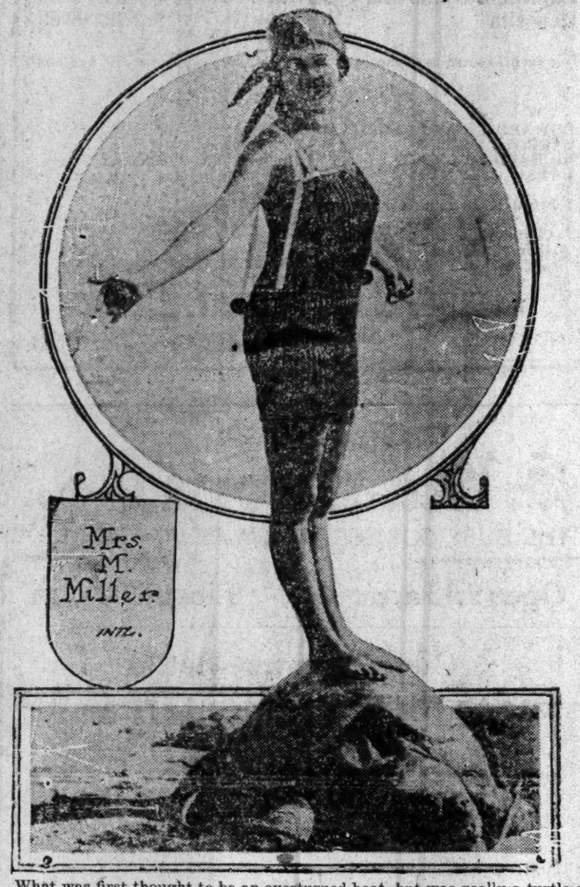
Girl Takes Ride on 500-Year-Old Turtle Captured at Miami



What was first thought to be an overturned boat, but was really a turtle almost 500 years old and of giant proportions, is now on exhibition at St. John's Casino, at Miami, Fla. Mrs. M. Miller, a Winter vacationist, is shown here using the turtle as a pedestal on which to pose prettily for the photographer. It required the combined efforts of four men to bring the turtle onto the beach.

Mahatma Gandhi's Arrest Ordered

Mahatma Gandhi

According to reports from London, the Indiana Government has ordered the arrest of Mahatma K. Gandhi (above) leader of the non-co-operationists of India. The dispatch also states that it was the intention of the Indian Government to adopt stern measures to surpress the campaign of civil disobedience in India, and adds that "no Government could discuss, much less accept, the demands contained in the recent manifesto of Gandhi, the Indian Nationalist leader.

Austrian Money Carried in Clothes Hampers

You might think these men were delivering laundry to a hotel, but no; they are carrying 17,500,000 in paper kronen to a bank in Vienna. This Austrian money, burned out by the drayload and having no gol basis, has depreciated until the whole 17,500,000 kronen is worth but $6,000 in American money. No guards are needed to keep away bandits, who would have a hard time lugging away the booty, even if they could get it.

Getting His Team Ready For Dog Race

"Tud" Kent, whose team last year won the American Dog Derby, is pictured here with one of his "huskies" en route to Idaho, where the race starts February 22. It will be run over seventy miles of "rough snow country." Fifteen of the most famous "mushers" of America and Canada are entered in the famous snow classic.

Fire Damages U. S. Treasury Building

When the Treasury Building at Washington caught fire the greater part of the district's fire apparatus came to fight the blaze. The fire broke out on the roof and is believed to have been started by a workman's torch. President Harding was among the first to be attracted by the blaze. He watched the firemen from the lawn in the rear of the White House.

The Genial Mr. Rockefeller

This exclusive photograph of John D. Rockefeller, taken at Ormond Beach, Fla., where he is passing the winter, shows the oil magnate in a new light. His manifest efforts to be friendly have endeared him to the other members of the colony. After attending church services on Sunday he chats democratically with the members of the congregation.
